

Babel Guesthouse in Petit Futé

Five minutes from the city centre, in a very quiet alleyway, Babel guesthouse belongs to a young Norwegian couple, who have made this establishment a little piece of paradise, hidden in the heart of Siem Reap. The 22 recently renovated rooms are large and bright, with all the necessary comfort. The restaurant, which offers Khmer and European specialties, is located in a superb tropical garden. A few benches under the trees invite you to rest and read. Babel guesthouse also does its utmost to respect the environment: almost no plastic waste, filtered water available to customers and even a small ecological store to buy shampoo and soap as well as glass bottles to store liquid products. The owners can also recommend other addresses that also respect nature: travel agencies, restaurants and even other hotels throughout the country.
