

"This is the neighborhood where Lisbon's most promising young chefs are opening new restaurants," says Time Out, namechecking Quiosque de São Paul and Tricky's as top spots for drinking and dining.

Third on the 2022 round-up is Wat Bo Village, in Siem Reap, Cambodia. According to Time Out, the area surrounding the spectacular Wat Bo Pagoda has had a "serious glow-up" in the past year. Boutique hotels Viroth's and Treeline Urban Resort are listed as highlights, alongside restaurant Tevy's Place, which serves up delicious organic meals and also works as a social enterprise empowering local women.

The highest rated American neighborhood came in at number four -- New York City's Ridgewood. Time Out says this Queens-located area's balance of new, upcoming bars and restaurants, alongside institutions like pastry shop Rudy's Bakery -- which opened in 1934 -- that earned it a spot on the 2022 list.

Meanwhile Mile End in Montreal, Canada rounds out Time Out's top five, described as a "walkable nook" hosting "some of the city's best restaurants, independent bookstores, flower shops, butchers, bakers and candlestick makers."